

More tagging

Today, I picked up new glasses at For Eyes. The name is brilliant. And the tag is great: The store for people who can't see spending a lot for glasses. I love this! Clever but not at the expense of making sense. And, I really like their ads...generally funny. Plus, I got good service and what I hope are a nice pair of glasses at a reasonable price.