

What? Brand advertising doesn't work?

I find this report hard to believe, but apparently, drug advertising is not resulting in patients asking for a drug by name. Read the MSNBC article here. I can only theorize that the drugs that are advertised the most (Levitra, Viagra, Jenuvia) are for conditions that don't affect that many people. Hmm...